And now to dissect my repewdiating the proceedings and incomings. A good many of the Boarbons, and of their "poor white trash" at Richmond, have yet to learn, that negroes knev any rights which they are bound to respect hence the old Curfew Inws, such as arresting a negro after 9 o'clock a flight, and subjecting him to all sorts or inquisitorial annoyances, as well' as severe punishment, were still maintained by Mayo and his police since the new order of things. The lesson Gen, Terry aims to teach the Richmonders, and all the natives over there is, in the first place, that slavery is stone dead; and in the second place, that white in the second place, that white nave no longer either the right or the power to brutalize the blacks in any way or relation, but that both are perfectly free and independent as regards each other. Our old friend, Gen. Hattsuff, has also. according to the dispatches this morn In mo knun to this purton Artymuses to brutalize the blacks in any way or relation, but that both are pichedly because in the present the property of the prop

JUDOR LER, of Clarksburg, complains that the paragraph in our paper the other morning to the effect that he with certain others therein mentioned, had been indicted by the Grand Jury of the Circuit Courie in Harrison County, for the acts of Jones' raiders in stealing horses and cattle in 1863, is a misapprehension. It was a son of the Judge's who was indicted. The Judge claims to be, and to have been all the while, as loyal man. He was in Richmond attending Court in 1861 when the ordinance of secession was passed, and opposed it all the time—so much so as to have incurred insult in the streets of Richmond. After the passage of the ordinance, he left the Court in session and came home, and from that day to the Press, which sed boldly I was triffing not ever wish his name breaked in my presents. I do not ever wish his name breaked in the present has refused to have any connection with the Richmond government on with the Richmond government of whom he say the presents. It do not recognize him now that days the set and the lines to the effect that he with a late rebil capital I desire to climply cambel said at the time, that they were then completely whipped, the other rebel leaders would have been who signs himself Clonzo Ward, & see he is my berrather. It is eminently proper and eminently wise, now that they have received the coup de grace from the war, that, they should be put beyond thehope of resurrection by this important Act of Assembly. The act requires of the people their acknowledgement of the demise of these two institutions. In taking the oaths it prescribes, the people assent to recognize and assert their final demise. Be it so. Let these things of the past die. Let them sleep the eternal sleep of death. Let the people take the oaths, and thus drive the last nall in the coffin of slavery and secession.

The last glimmer of the Rebellion dies out with the surrender of Galveston. There is nothing left to be taken of surrendered. The old fing once more floats, in undisputed authority from Maine to Texas, and peace rests upon all our borders.
